Board of Directors California Plan of Church Finance, Inc. Fresno, California

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition of California Plan of Church Finance, Inc., as of December 31, 2004, and the related statements of income, changes in equity and cash flows for the year then ended, that you are filing pursuant to Rule 17a-5 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These financial statements are the responsibility of the company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of California Plan of Church Finance, Inc., as of December 31, 2004, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information included in this report on pages 15 through 18 is presented for purposes of additional analysis as required by Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

NOTE 1: ORGANIZATION AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The California Plan of Church Finance, Inc., was incorporated under the laws of the State of California in October 1993. The company sells mortgage bonds for long-term financing associated with various denominations of churches and other institutions throughout the United States.

The following are the significant accounting policies of the company:

Method of accounting - The financial statements are prepared using the accrual basis of accounting. Broker fees and commissions income and related expenses are recorded on a trade-date basis as securities transactions occur. Underwriter fees are recognized upon release of escrow fees.

Mortgage bond inventory - Mortgage bond inventory consists of mortgage bonds purchased for resale and are stated at fair market value.

Investment in securities - The company's investment in securities is classified as "available for sale" securities and is carried on the financial statements at fair market value. Realized gains and losses are included in earnings; unrealized holding gains and losses are reported as a separate component of stockholder's equity as a component of "Other Comprehensive Income".

Other investments - Other investments consist of funds on deposit with the Louisiana Baptist Foundation. The investment is stated at cost, which approximates market value.

Property and equipment - Property and equipment are stated at cost. Depreciation is provided by the straight-line and accelerated methods for financial reporting and income tax purposes, at rates designed to distribute the costs of property and equipment over their estimated useful lives.

Retirements of depreciable property are charged to the allowance for depreciation to the extent of its related accumulated depreciation. The cost is removed from the asset account, and any profit or loss on disposition is credited or charged to income.

Income taxes - Income taxes are provided for the tax effects of transactions reported in the financial statements and consist of taxes currently due plus deferred taxes. Deferred taxes are recognized for differences between the basis of assets and liabilities for financial statement and income tax purposes. The deferred tax liabilities represent the future tax return consequences of those differences, which will either be taxable or deductible when the assets and liabilities are recovered or settled.

NOTE 1: ORGANIZATION AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

Accounting estimates - The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and cash equivalents - For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the company considers all highly liquid investments with an initial maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Comprehensive income - Comprehensive income consists of net income plus unrealized gain on investment, which is referred to as other comprehensive income. Other comprehensive income is presented in the statement of income, and an analysis of changes in accumulated other comprehensive income is presented in the statement of changes in stockholder's equity.

Board of Directors California Plan of Church Finance, Inc. Fresno, California

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of California Plan of Church Finance, Inc., for the year ended December 31, 2004, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the company in making the periodic computation of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and procedures for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. We did not review the practices and procedures followed by the company in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13 or in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System; because the company does not carry security accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities.

The management of the company is responsible for establishing maintaining internal control and the practices procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted principles. accounting Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate. Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned We noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safequarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2004, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of the board of directors, management, the SEC, the New York Stock Exchange and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
